

Soma Technology, founded in 1992, is a leader in the refurbished medical equipment industry, servicing clients around the world. We offer health care facilities high quality medical equipment for up to 60% savings off the price of new. We maintain a large inventory of products enabling us to ship orders promptly. Our in-house, highly skilled technical department refurbishes all equipment according to the original specification of the manufacturer.. We offer the highest quality products and service in the industry at the most affordable prices.

Junior Bench Test Engineer

Develop testing methods for equipment to meet OEM standards/design specs; Test/service bio-medical devices/equipment on component/board level. Correct parameters found not to meet OEM specs; Identify cause of failure for devices. Perform preventive maintenance, calibration of equipment. Offer technical support, troubleshoot, maintain refurbished medical equipment.

Education Requirements: Master in Biomedical Engineering or Electrical Engineering.

Other Requirements: Soma Technology will accept any combination of education, training, experience as equivalent to the degree requirement. The candidate must have strong theoretical knowledge of electronic components and biomedical instrumentation with good understanding of human physiological systems.

No. of Positions: Multiple positions available

How to Apply

You can apply by mail, fax or email.

By Mail: Send resumes to:

Soma Technology, Inc
Human Resources Department
166 Highland Park Drive
Bloomfield, CT 06002

By E-mail: Send resume to careers@somatechnology.com.

By Fax: Fax a copy of your resume to 860-218-2565